

WHAT IS AN ENNEAGRAM?

The Enneagram is a system of personality typing that describes patterns in how people think, feel, and act in relation to the world, others, and themselves. The word Enneagram comes from a combination of the Greek words, “ennea”, meaning “nine”, and “gramma”, meaning “something ‘written’ or ‘drawn’”. While it’s common to identify with variables of all personality types, the Enneagram test defines which of the nine interconnected personality types is most dominant and individuals are classified with a number between one and nine.

“A workplace that encourages self-awareness is an environment where the most productive, curious, and innovative people thrive.” – Neil Blumenthal (CEO of Warby Parker)

“I think self-awareness is probably the most important thing towards being a champion.” – Billie Jean King (American Tennis Champion & Social Activist)
